

adaptive tools AG is a Swiss-based consulting and project management company with profound know-how and client base in the international financial services industry.

We advise and support companies in designing and implementing organisational and technological innovations. With many years of experience we prepare the ground for change by delivering appropriate analyses and concepts. Using our result-oriented project management approach, we guide our clients through the transformation process and ensure high quality and timeliness of all deliverables.

To complement our consulting team, we are currently recruiting an experienced Test / QA-Manager with a strong Banking focus to support important IT development projects at our clients location.

Knowledge/Skills:

- Profound know-how and proven track record in test and quality management – preferably with a large financial institution
- Excellent organisational and people management skills
- Conceptual thinkers and good communicators
- Fluent spoken and written English and German
- Proven ability to work in a multicultural environment
- Previous experience with banking systems would be desirable

Main Tasks:

- Planning, coordination, and documentation of QA measures
- Establishment of test concepts, plans, scripts, and test cases
- Management of system, integration, and user testing

To be considered for this opportunity you will ideally be educated to a degree level and have several years of experience in a similar role. You are accustomed to working in an international environment and delivering results of the highest quality. Applicants must hold EU-12 passport or have valid Swiss work permit.

Place of work is Zurich, Switzerland – some additional travel may be required

Permanent position preferred, sub-contracting possible
